
Ayurveda Diploma Course in Rishikesh, India (45 and 90 days)

Ayurveda which literally translates to 'knowledge of life' has its roots back to over 3000 years. It is the science of completely healing the body and getting rid of diseases not natural to one's being.

Each of us comes on earth with a distinct biological framework and Ayurveda retains this uniqueness in its healing process. It emphasizes the state of normalcy and a sense of balance between the three doshas (vatta, pitta and kapha), intellect (sense organs), mind (manas), prasanna atma (soul), agni (fire), manas (mind), and finally malakriya (excretion). When the natural balance between any of these is disturbed, the body is sick and needs healing.

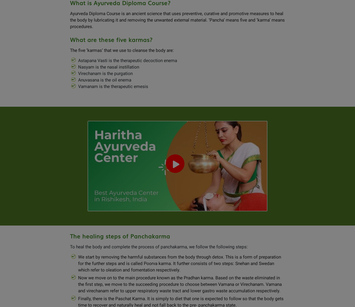
What is Ayurveda Diploma Course?

Ayurveda Diploma Course is an ancient science that uses preventive, curative and promotive measures to heal the body by lubricating it and removing the unwanted external material. 'Pancha' means five and 'karma' means procedures.

What are these five karmas?

The five 'karmas' that we use to cleanse the body are:

- Asthapana Vasti is the therapeutic decoction enema
- Nasyam is the nasal instillation
- Virechanam is the purgation
- Anuvasana is the oil enema
- Vamanam is the therapeutic emesis



The healing steps of Panchakarma

To heal the body and complete the process of panchakarma, we follow the following steps:

- We start by removing the harmful substances from the body through detox. This is a form of preparation for the further steps and is called Poorva karma. It further consists of two steps: Snehan and Swedan which refer to oleation and fermentation respectively.
- Now we move on to the main procedure known as the Pradhan karma. Based on the waste eliminated in the first step, we move to the succeeding procedure to choose between Vamana or Virechanam, Yamana and vrecchanam refer to upper respository waste tract and lower gastric waste accumulation respectively.
- Finally, there is the Paschat Karma. It is simply to diet that one is expected to follow so that the body gets time to recover and naturally heal and not fall back to the pre-panchakarma state.
